WHY INVEST IN SPOTLIGHT GROUP?

Large underlying market

Structural long-term trend where growth companies choose public ownership and listing. There are more than 43,000 companies in Sweden in the SME category, which indicates continued great market potential. An equally important trend to emphasize is that current companies continue to grow, meaning that their capital needs over time, and thus the transactions that are carried out, have generally become greater. Spotlight Group is correctly positioned to take additional market shares as the market grows.

Increasing recurring revenue

Approximately 40 percent of the Group's revenue is recurring, which provides a good basis for future growth. The Group has had an annual average growth of about 10 percent over the past five years, and the Board sees significant opportunities for continued increased growth in the future through the investments made in 2017 and 2018.

Strong business model and market position

An open platform of stock market-oriented and scalable businesses and services, with strong revenue and development synergies between the various components. The Group's market position and the expertise of the staff mean that the needs that arise in the market are quickly picked up. In addition, large parts of the Group's business are subject to an authorization obligation, which creates entry barriers for new players wishing to position themselves.

Potential in underlying profitability

In 2017 and 2018, the Group made several major investments. The investments included, among other things, a change of trading system, IT platform and a major re-profiling of Spotlight Stock Market. Even over the period in which these investments were made, the Group's underlying profitability has been good and increased continuously. At the same time, the Group is, through the investments, expected to have further strengthened the conditions for increased profitability in combination with economies of scale in the form of, among other things, more and larger transactions that can have a large impact on earnings, as well as increased productification and streamlined processes of various services.

Good opportunities for attractive dividends

The Group has a stable financial profile and intends to distribute 50 percent of future earnings.

Strong and long-term owners and experienced staff

The Group's ownership circle today consists of a number of prominent Swedish investors. The Board, management and staff within the Group have broad, long-term and relevant experience in both business and service development as well as regulatory issues. All of the above parties have entered into lock up regarding 100 percent of their holdings for 12 months from the date of listing. Approximately 75 percent of the shares in the Company are thus covered by lock-up agreements.

LET US HELP SWEDEN INCORPORATED AND WHY NOT THE NORDICS?

The world has changed rapidly in just a few months. Many countries are facing a challenging time and the political, economic as well as the social systems are being put to test, as a result of pandemic. The damage to certain industries will be significant while other will thrive as we see new structures and user behaviors being formed in the society.

For growth companies, which account for a substantial part of the economy where employment is created, the capital supply will become crucial. We already see that it is more difficult for growing companies to obtain financing from banks and venture capital companies. This is where stock exchanges and the services that Spotlight Group offers come into the picture. For more than 20 years, we have gradually built a very competitive ecosystem of services for capital supply to the most exciting growth companies. Just as after the financial crisis in 2008, it is likely that we will become an even more important function of society in the future, with an increased demand for the services we offer.

Even apart from the current situation, and the demand that will be created for the services we offer, there is a large potential market and a structural shift towards public ownership in the Nordic region. Especially Sweden is often highlighted internationally as a role model from a stock market perspective where an increasing amount of small and medium-sized companies (so-called SMEs) have realized the benefits and power of a listing and public ownership. Historically, a general perception has been that IPOs are most suitable for large companies. Today, it can be stated that small and medium-sized companies have equally good prerequisites and in many cases many more advantages of bringing their business to the stock market. Figures from the organization Statistics Sweden show that in Sweden alone there are more than 43,000 SME-companies and that a significant part of these demands the services we offer. This shows that we have a very large market potential to work with at our home ground. When looking at the Nordic region as at total and Europe, we are of course talking about a lot larger figures.

We have now reached the point in our own development and growth journey when the opportunity has arisen to go public. It may seem obvious. We want to practise what we preach and gain from the benefits that a listing brings in the form of increased transparency, visibility and credibility. In our case, we also want to offer the public to take part in the Group's future opportunities through co-ownership. And there is undeniably no lack of future opportunities. We will continue to increase knowledge among the currently unlisted SME-companies and thereby both expand the market and also attract new customers for the services we offer. We will also continue to invest in the Group's operations to be able to handle more and larger transactions and develop new businesses, where strong revenue and synergies can be utilized between the various parts of our company.

We recently closed our books for the first half of 2020 and despite the fact that we are only at the beginning of the second half of 2020, we have an optimistic outlook for the remainder of 2020. The prospects of exceeding our financial targets looks promising.

In the next few years, we will build the Group even stronger and be the important societal function that the Swedish economy as well as the Nordic countries requires.
